Wayne Daniels (born June 10th 1960 in Syracuse, NY) is a contemporary realist painter. His main influences are 17th century dutch painting and American realist painting of the 19th and 20th centuries. His paintings are built up of many translucent glazes to maximize depth and luminosity. He received a B.A. in art from Buffalo State University in 1983 and has been represented by Goodstight Gallery, Gallery of CNY, and Maresella Gallery. He has been four times named finalist in the Artist's Magazine's annual art competition. You can see his work at <http://wayne-daniels.artistwebsites.com>

Daniel Tennant was one of the co-founders of the annual Bainbridge art show in 1979. He taught art at BG for 32 years (1976-2008). He now paints full time. He has a deep interest in the show although not living in the area anymore. He mentioned that the show gave him a springboard early on in his career when he really needed it. He considers it to be one of the best smaller art exhibits in the southern tier. He considers it a real honor to be able to judge this fine show. Dan paints solely in gouache (opaque watercolors) and you can see his work at his web site- www.danielktennant.com
